Litowitz Family Office

1616 Orrington, Evanston

Blackened steel and reeded glass partitions, shelving and doors across a family office floor, built and installed with union crews.

THE WORK

A [6th / 7th] floor build out for the Litowitz Family Office at 1616 Orrington in Evanston: demountable steel and glass partitions, boardroom and elevator entry assemblies, library and lounge metalwork, and back bar and column shelving, all in one blackened metal and glass language from the elevator lobby through the boardrooms to the lounge.

THE MATERIAL QUESTION

A whole floor had to read as one room. The steel grid had to land on the millwork, the soffits, and the building's pipes without a single misaligned line, and reeded glass had to soften the office for privacy without closing it off from the light and the view of the city.

THE MAKING

We drew and redrew the grid against the millwork shop drawings, removed a vertical mullion where a pipe could not move, and extended a soffit so the geometry stayed symmetrical from the lobby through the lounge. Back bar and column shelving went in with Houdini GL-02 reeded glass. Details ran down to perforated metal panels in the boardrooms, blackened and bronze thresholds with a floor grip treatment, elevator entry ceiling panels, custom doors and hardware. We fabricated the system and directed union installers on site.
